Direct Deposit at UC San Diego

What is Direct Deposit?

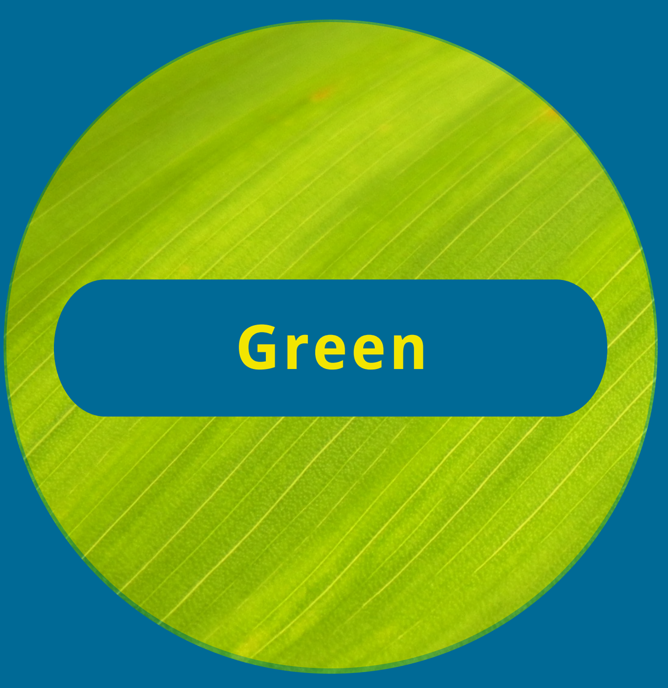
Direct deposit is a method of payment that electronically transfers funds to your checking or savings account.
Direct deposit can be used to receive various types of credit refunds, including:

· Financial aid overpayments
· Cash or check overpayments
· Stipends
· Housing overpayments

Why should I enroll?:

Receive funds within 2-3 business days of transfer

Refunds are issued directly to your bank account



Join UC San Diego's sustainability initiative!

How do I enroll?

1| Log into Tritonlink

Log into your Tritonlink account and select the "Students Direct Deposit" option under the Financial Tools tab.

2| Enter your banking information

First, specify the account type- only a personal checking or savings account can be used. Enter both the bank account and routing numbers where indicated.

3| Account verification

Direct deposit account verification typically takes 10-12 business days to complete. During this process, the account status will display as “Pending” - once verified, the status will change to “Active.”

Troubleshooting Tips

Why is my direct deposit account not verified?

Wrong account number
Do not use a debit card number. Utilize the account number on your bank statements.

Joint account
Joint accounts cannot be used with our direct deposit. It must be a sole personal checking or savings account.

Closed account
Ensure that the account information is up-to-date. Closed or suspended accounts will not be verified.

Banking institution
Certain banks do not accept direct deposit transfers. Please contact your bank directly if verification issues persist.

Connect with Us

Student Financial Solutions

858-822-4727

studentbusiness@ucsd.edu

Student Services Center, Suite 355